SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT NO.

Approximately one hundred Vietnamese nationals in Siam have returned to Indochina. Most of this group consisted of (a) those who think they can make a better living in Indochina, (b) those who have relatives in French-controlled areas in Indochina, and (c) those who were ill-treated by some of the Viet Minh officials in Siam. Many of the returnees were officials in the French administration in Indochina before and during World War II.
